

informatics feminale

20.-31.8.2012

FAQ – answers to frequently asked questions about the Informatica Feminale – 15th international summer university for women in IT in Bremen

Who can participate?

Every interested woman (regardless of background), provided that she meets the predefined requirements of each individual course. We welcome female participants from Germany as well as abroad!

Which courses are public and free of charge?

All lecture series and JobForum lectures are public and can be visited for free.

How much is the participation fee?

Students and unemployed are charged a one-time fee of 35 Euro for a participation of two weeks – regardless for which of the two summer universities. A participation of three weeks amounts to a one-time fee of 50 Euro. Those who support the conference office for approximately 4 hours do not need to pay for participating. Some companies offer travel scholarships. Employed women pay a fee of 35 Euro a day.

Is childcare provided?

During the entire summer university, childcare is provided for free. Children need to be previously registered with their ages and their time schedules concerning childcare.

Where can I find the program leaflet?

You can download the program leaflet as a PDF file from the website www.informatica-feminale.de or request for it by mail if@informatica-feminale.de or by fax +49-(0)421-218-98-64469 or by telephone +49-(0)421-218-64469 via Maya Schulte at the University of Bremen.

Where can I register myself?

At the website: www.informatica-feminale.de

What certificates can I acquire?

The University of Bremen issues confirmations of participation for attending particular courses. As some of the courses concerning duration and requirements correspond to regular semester courses, certificates and credit points can be applied for. Participants will have to see to the recognition of their achievements at their home college themselves. The courses of the Informatica Feminale that are accredited by the University of Bremen are marked on the web program.

Where do I find lodging and meals?

Participants will have to organise their lodging and meals themselves. References to affordable accommodation can be found on the program leaflet and on the website. During the entire summer university a cafeteria will be at your disposal for free; hot meals can be purchased from an extensive assortment of several dining halls at the campus of the University of Bremen.